Feedback #118

Carlton Pearson moderates a panel discussion on intercultural communication barriers with panelists: Terry Robins, Chairman of "Dade Americans United To Protect the English Language;" Enos Schera, with "Citizens Of Dade United," a group similar to Terry's; Attorney Sanford Bohrer, dealing with First Amendment law; and Mark Gallegos, Attorney and Vice President of "Spanish American League Against Discrimination." Because of the large influx of Spanish speaking immigrants, especially in South Florida and states bordering Mexico, Spanish is increasingly being spoken with some areas attempting to pass legislation making Spanish co-equal with English. In Miami, many English speaking whites feel imposed upon and discriminated against by the Hispanic majority and the bi-lingual street signs. Terry Robins says that it's very hard to get a job in Miami if you don't speak Spanish. The audience opinion seems to be that government can only function effectively in one language.

Christianity On Trial #21

Dr. Charles Manske, Founder and President of Christ College, Irvine, and Professor of Religion at Christ College, moderates a panel discussion on racism and the church. Panelists: Rev. Johnny Lopez, Hispanic, Lutheran minister; Dr. J.W. Montgomery, former Dean of Simon Greenleaf School Of Law; Dr. Jeff Johnson, Professor emeritus of Sociology at Christ College. Lopez points out that Hispanics are more comfortable worshipping with other Hispanics. Montgomery comments that different ethnic groups can have a healthy exchange of values when they worship together. Johnson, as a black, feels it is not necessary to worship in an integrated group. Montgomery feels that the charge is obligated to integrate all nationalities. One cannot be a bigot and be a Christian.

Steve and Ruth White, directors and founders of "A Place For Us," discuss inter-racial marriages and discrimination with Jim McClellan. Authors of Free Indeed, the Whites describe their organization as a place for giving help to inter-racial couples who often find themselves ostracized by family, friends, and the church. The Whites seek to promote acceptance by all.

Joy 0222-89

Jim McClellan discusses with Pat Krone and James McClellan the subject of seeking ways to break down prejudice and bring minorities into the business community, and also to help businesses reach out to minorities. Pat Krone, Public Affairs Officer of Pacific Bell and a member of the Minority Business Council. James is a black businessman and president of the Minority Business Council. They recount ways they attempt to help people to reach out to people different than themselves.

EDUCATION/

Miami Praise The Lord 0217-89

Hosts Bill and Esther Illnisky talk with R.W. Schambach, an evangelist on several subjects, including education. Schambach talks about all the evil, demonic activity modern kids have to face in school. He tells a positive story of a little girl he once knew. When she was 16 years old in high school during the 70's. She was caught several times reading her Bible on her lunch hour. Being warned not to several times, she continued to read, was arrested and ordered by the federal court not to read the Bible at public school. Returning to school, she read again, the principal told her that he would give her a Bible class after school if she would stop her reading during school. Out of curiosity, about 500 drug addicts came to her 1st Bible study to see "what she was on". In that class of 700 students, she was able to lead 500 to Christ, because of one lone girl's revolution.

He points out that such groups were separate from the church in the past, they are presently being seen among many church groups. One such group is called the "Christian Identity Movement." They denigrate blacks in repulsive ways. He says these radicals are pocket movements, but there are thousands of closet racists on their mailing lists. Their doctrines include such statements as Jesus was not Jewish, the Jews are anti-Christians.

His wife became very irritated with his behavior and threatened to leave him. Jessie knew she was his whole life and he had to do something to keep from losing her. One Christmas night Jessie was in a tavern trying to get drunk, but regardless how much he drank, he could not get drunk. He heard God tell him it was now or never, but he continued to drink. Finally, he went home and told his wife he was going to church and give his life to Jesus. Now, Jessie, 17 years later, is going to prison and witnessing to the inmates. | | | | | |
